right arm and lodged in or near the elbow.

At first it was thought that one ball entered the side, but investigation showed that it only went through the coat. Cooper was removed to the hospital, but the physicians have not been able to find the ball. They will endeavor to locate it with an X-ray in a day or two.

Mrs. Wilson was cool and unconcerned when the officers arrived at her home. She told them to arrest her if they wanted to, but she stated that she was justified in doing what she did. She said that she had warned Cooper not to come to her house to see her daughter any more; that when he appeared on the front porch this afternoon she met him at the door and told him to leave. Falling to obey, she began shooting at him.

Cooper is a married man and about thirty years old. The affair has caused a sonsation here, as-Cooper is quitte popular.

"Little Women" Played by Pupils of the Training Schools.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FARMVILLE, VA., May 80.—Those who doubt the dramatic powers of children should have seen "The Little Women Play," given by the upper grades of the Training School on Thursday night, May 21st. The people of the play were "Meg," Beryl Morris; "Jo," Minnie Blanton; "Beth." Nannie Nicholson; "Amy," May Potts; "Laurie," George Richardson; "Mr. Lawrence," Hattle Paulett; "Mrs. Marche," Mattle Hubbard; "Hannal,"

State to show guilt. The defense intro-duced no witnesses.

The main evidence against the men is the admission of John Allen, who was in Jones' room, when the mob assassinated Jones, that the men arrested were with him. This is borne out by the fact that they were on the street just after the killing. Judge Brown, who presided, has taken ithe case under advisement and will render his decision to-morrow, tending Government Building.

HALFORD GUEST OF HONOR

Secretary of Former President Benja min Harrison Delights His Hearers. Captain Willard, Mr. Folkes and Other Speakers.

The first membership banquet of the Young Men's Christian Association, given at the Masonic Temple last night, was a success in every sense of the word. A reception was held for half an hour, beginning at 8:80 P. M., during members and friends mingled

Williams, chairman of the Banquet Committee, in a well-chosen speech, introduced the toast-master, Hon. Beverly B Mr. Munford introduced Major Elijah W. Halford as the first speaker. Major Halford was secretary to President Benjamin Harrison, and is a gentleman of wide learning. His subject was "A Twentleth Century Investment," which he treated in a most graceful and forceful mariner. He said that hi making investments three things had to be taken into consideration—ability to make the investment, safety in doing so, and determining whether or not the investment will pay. He emphasized character as the most satisfactory and profitable in-vestment, personal character that makes the man and the individual. He declared interest in the work of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. E. C. Folkes then responded to the toast "Brotherhood," and told of the ties of brotherhood, which the Saviour established when he showed the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, and what a power and influence this co-operative spirit works in the affairs of men. He referred to the refent Russian atrocities and said that while the representative of the several governments in that country were afraid to speak, petitions, actuated by the brotherhood spirit, were going up to the Carfrom all parts of the world, and that these many voices would be heard in the interests of oppressed and outraged humantly.

DR. STRANGB ON SUCCESS.

Rev. Robert Strange, D. D., of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, spoke upon the subject, 'Success,' and treated it in a most instructive and entertaining manner. He defined what true success was, and used the following quotations: 'Success is duty done, anywhere, by anyone.' 'Life's course well run,

Life's work well done,

Life's work well done,

Life's crown well won.'

Hon, James W. Gordon's subject was 'The War of 1903,' and in any eloquent and impussioned manner showed how this battle was to be fought in daily conduct by doing those things which are high, true and noble.

This concluded the regular list of speakers, but calls were made for Messrs.

Nell D, Sills and W. Gray Wattson, the generals of the two sides in the recent membership contest, and these gentlemen responded with graceful, timely remarks.

"AMONG THOSE PRISSINN".'

Dr. Williams then declared the evening's pleasures at an end. Every one spoke of the high order of the speeches
